

Career Vision

I am very excited to be getting my education so that in the future I can complete my personal career goals and plans. Being at Brigham Young University Idaho has helped me to open my understanding about certain jobs within the business field. It was the Business 100 class that went through the major degrees and what the job field is like. To accompany learning about the major types of jobs we did a website and by learning positions and roles of jobs I have gained a better understanding of what I want to study.

What I want to do with my education is go into the Business Management degree. I will be taking Accounting as my major and supply chain management as my minor. I hope to finish my school at Brigham Young University Idaho and work with a good Accounting company.

I hope to start in the accounting side of business. As I learn the different jobs and responsibilities in accounting then I hope to reach a good position. This position is an Accountant that analyzes the books and putting together action plans. I also would like to be a manager over other people to help teach them accounting principles. This is one of my future career jobs that I am aiming for.

After learning in the Accounting side of business I hope to move to another section of a business and learn all about it. This could be supply management or another depending on my situation. I have had a little knowledge regarding supply management from my dad and I could see myself doing this type of job. I have good organizational skills and can adapt to what I am doing very well. In my latter years if there is an opportunity to start my own business then I will be an entrepreneur.

I have heard many stories of successful business men that create their own business and earn a lot of money. I have a lot of attributes that would be of a benefit to me as I create a business. I am organized and get to what needs to be done quickest. I also can communicate and be proficient in dealing with employees. I also every day work on the attributes that the savior gave to us. I have learned from the Leadership examples that he has set for me.

This is my career vision and what I would like to be in my future years of work. I hope to be of benefit to those that I work with and also to learn all that I can.
