

Mock Interview

1. The Mock interview was an opportunity to express my self as a good candidate for the position that we are inquiring for. This helped me learn the principle of personal skills and communication by describing who I really am through my experiences.
2. An important principle is to shake hands firm and get to know who it is that is interviewing you. This is very important because it can show who you are just by your hand shake and expression.
3. Last I know that being prepared is an important principle to. When the interviewer asks questions then you should be ready to answer then with in a timely manner. I you pause to think and take to long then that will give the interviewer and Idea that you are not prepared.
